

5. AI POWERED SOCIAL MEDIA BOTS

EXAMPLE: SOCIAL TROLL FARM, MULTIPLE MEDIA ACCOUNT, SCAMS

Social media bots are automated accounts designed to perform specific tasks on social media platforms. They can be programmed to post content, interact with users, or gather data. Here are some key points about social media bots:

Types of Bots

- Content Bots: Automatically share articles, images, or videos.
- Engagement Bots: Like, comment, or follow users to increase visibility.
- Data Bots: Collect information from social media for analysis or research.

Uses of Bots

- Marketing: Brands use bots to promote products and engage with customers.
- News Distribution: Bots can quickly disseminate news updates.
- Customer Service: Some bots assist users with inquiries or support.

Concerns

- Misinformation: Bots can spread false information rapidly.
- Manipulation: They may be used to influence public opinion or manipulate trends.

PROS - IMPROVE WORK

CONS- IMPROVE SCAM

2025 (5) RELATED AI SCAMS

1. AI GENERATED FAKE PAYMENT

EXAMPLE:

RECENT- PAYMENT FAKE SCAMMER (CHAT GPT)

2. DEEPFAKE PROMO VIDEO

Deepfakes are AI-generated videos or audio clips that look and sound convincing. For example, scammers can clone a CEO's voice or splice a video of a manager. This allows them to issue fake payment orders.

EXAMPLE:

REALISTIC FAKE VIDEO WELL-KNOWN PERSONALITY

3. AI POWERED ROMANCE/ LOVE SCAM

Online romance scams have been a persistent issue for years. However, with the rise of artificial intelligence (AI), scammers have developed new tactics to deceive unsuspecting victims. As a responsible online user, your role in preventing AI-powered romance scams is crucial. These scams involve fraudsters who utilize AI-generated profiles, deepfake videos, and chatbot conversations to build trust and manipulate victims into sending money or personal information.

To protect yourself from an AI-driven romance scam, it's crucial to recognize red flags and take proactive steps to verify online connections.

AI-powered romance scams are becoming more sophisticated, but staying informed can help you avoid becoming a victim. By being vigilant, verifying identities, and recognizing red flags, you can navigate online dating safely while protecting your finances and personal information.

EXAMPLE:

CHATS

FACE SWAPPING TECH

4. PHISHING E-MAIL

"Phishing" is the term for an identity theft scam designed to target unsuspecting users of electronic communication methods, specifically email and text messages, and trick them into giving up sensitive personal or business information that hackers can use to steal their identity, raid their bank accounts and more.

EXAMPLE: ORGANIZED PROF AI EMAIL CONNECTED TO LINKS